

BADER LEATHER

Jarbou Ronnisch Construction was selected as the Design Builder for Bader Leather's new location in Rochester Hills which consisted of an expansion and renovation. The Jarbou Ronnisch team worked closely with Biddison Architecture to ensure the success of this project. This new facility was intended to become Bader Leather's headquarters in North America and also serve as a showroom for their automotive clients. This project required many key features, such as the new atrium entry addition, mezzanine, skylight installations, full-height glass partitions, architectural lighting, a green wall of plants, and many leather accent elements.
