

HEALTHCALL

RONNISCH
Construction Group

Ronnisch Construction Group served as the Construction Manager for HealthCall Community Healthcare Services, delivering a purpose-built facility designed to support accessible, patient-focused care. The project required careful coordination to accommodate clinical spaces, administrative functions, and durable building systems while maintaining a welcoming environment for patients and staff. Working closely with the project team, Ronnisch managed the construction process to meet operational needs, safety standards, and long-term performance requirements. The completed space reflects Ronnisch's experience in delivering healthcare facilities that serve both providers and the communities they support.
